“A Competition To Unite”

*“*There was a time when I knew a lot about plumbing, but today every time a consultant comes to my office there is something new, as plumbing has evolved into science.

I feel that what INDIAN PLUMBING ASSOCIATION has showcased over the years. I think it is a must, learning for each and every architect and I can assure you that if architects know more about plumbing and more about structures, they will be able to design buildings better.

I would also like that this kind of course, be conducted in each and every office of architects. I am thankful to IPA for offering to conduct this course in our office.

I fully endorse the Indian Plumbing Professional League-IPPL “
